Landscape Architecture – 4 Zoom Classes

In this 4-part series, learn tips and tricks for home landscape design from Manchester resident and retired professor of landscape architecture, Phil Waite.

On KRL.org under the Classes & Events menu, click on Virtual Classes & Events, and in the CALENDAR, click on the date to find the "button" for the event. This will take you to the Zoom link.

August 4, 6-7pm: Thinking Like a Landscape Architect: What They Know That You Don't Landscape Architects – like most designers – are creative people who like to solve problems using design. They use and apply a structured design process to solve problems. But more than in some design fields, landscape architects tend toward science-based design decisions – both social science as well as horticultural science & soil science. What do they know that you don't?

August 5, 6-7pm: Happily Ever After - Relating Your Landscape to the House Part I

A good marriage is one based in solid communication, commitment, and compromise. Interestingly enough, these are the same principles that invigorate a residential landscape design.

August 11, 6-7pm: Happily Ever After - Relating Landscape to the House Part II

August 12, 6-7pm: Practical Tips for Good Design Solutions
